Competition Guidelines

We are pleased to announce our sixth competition for the new series of juried artist catalogs called Studio Visit. The publication offers artists a new and effective venue through which to introduce their work to a serious national audience of art world professionals. The results of this competition will be published in the Summer of 2010.

Studio Visit will be a nationally focused publication that presents all two- and three-dimensional work. Each volume includes approximately 150 artists. Selected artist will be provided with one full page that will include a full color image, contact information and a brief artist statement. Each volume of Studio Visit will be juried by a professional curator and produced to the highest quality standards.

Once published, Studio Visit will be mailed to 1,500 of the nation's top galleries and curators as well as a growing subscriber base of over 500 collectors and art enthusiasts. Additionally, all winners will be listed on the Studio Visit website with direct links to their sites. Participating artists will also announced in a full page advertisement placed in the nationally distribute publication, New American Paintings.

The competition is free to enter, however, selected artists will be responsible for a $225 production and distribution fee. Strtists will receive a complimentary issue of the publication, and they will be able to purchase additional copies at a discount.
